

[e1] Large events that stir national or even international attention attract many visitors, [e2] and nothing will get Berlin out of its financial jam more than a lot of spending visitors.

[e3] Hence the Mayor of Berlin ought to keep the hurdles for organizing such events as low as possible.

[e4] Of course a higher federal subsidy would be even better for Berlin's coffers,

[e5] but you shouldn't bother
hoping for that.

